In this paper, we have investigated anisotropic Bianchi type-III cosmological model with wet dark fluid in the framework of $f(R, T)$ theory of gravity proposed by Harko et al., [1] for an applicable option of the function $f(R, T) = f_1(R) + f_2(T)$, where $f_1(R) = R$ and $f_2(T) = 2\lambda T$ where λ is constant parameter. We presented exact solutions of the fields equations by using a special form of the average scale factor derived from the time varying deceleration parameter and assuming that the shear scalar (σ) in the model is proportional to expansion scalar (θ). We have seen that the model has no initial singularity and shows accelerated expansion of the universe for the late times. It is also assumed that the model gained here reveals that even in the presence of WDF, the universe indicates accelerated expansion of the universe in late times. Few physical and geometric features of the model became examined. Thus, it has been seen that $f(R, T)$ gravity explains the present phase of cosmic acceleration of our universe in the presence of wet dark fluid.
